The Low Protein Food Factory

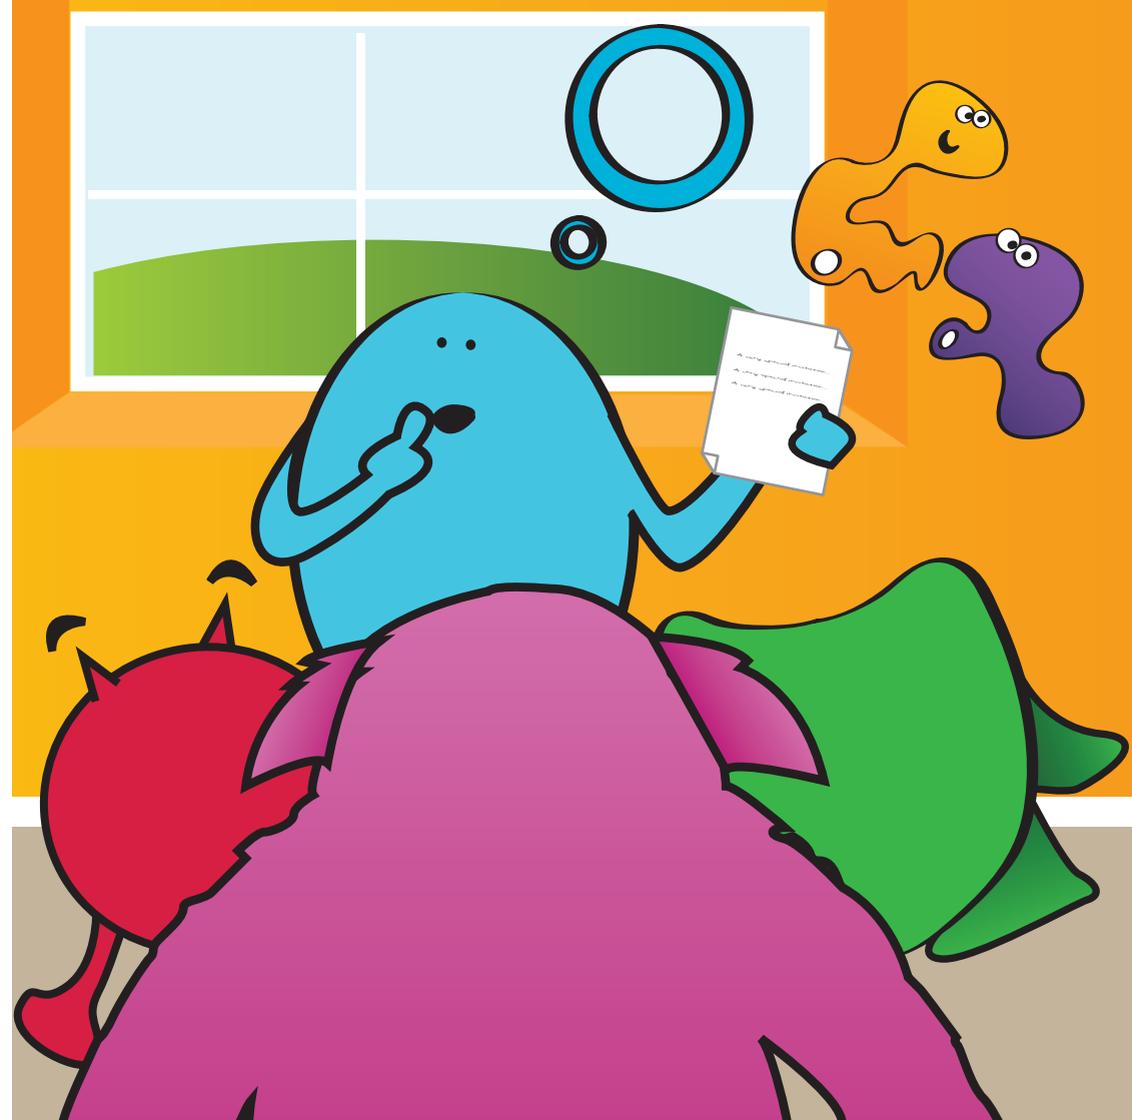

This morning Brains has gathered the Anamix 6 together in the club house.

“We have been invited to go on a very special trip to a very special factory” he said.

“I have never been to a factory before” said Megabyte. “Where is it? What do they make there? Is it food? Anything tasty?”

“We are going to where they make the tastiest pasta in the whole world!” said Brains.
“We are going to Italy!”

They packed their bags and soon they were on their way.

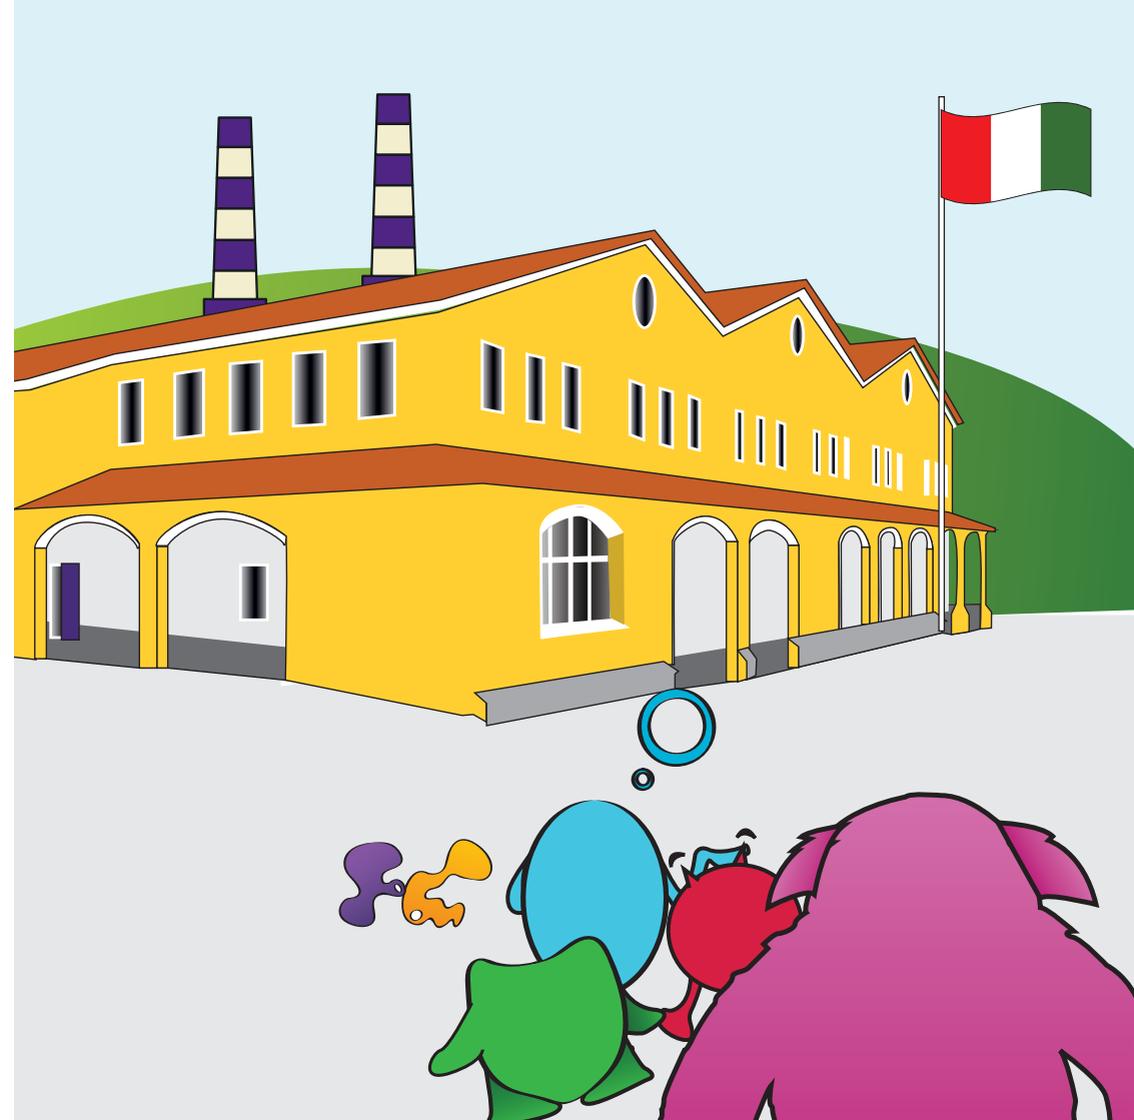

The Anamix 6 had arrived in Italy!

When they arrived at the factory they were very impressed. It was very clean and very tidy.

“We like the colours of the chimneys!”
said the Omega Twins.

“Can we go inside?” said Bones.

“Let’s go” said Brains. “We have got some very clever people to meet and they are going to show us around!”

Waiting for them inside was a familiar face.

“Hello Mr Scientist!” they all said. Mr Scientist introduced the Anamix 6 to everyone.

There were scientists who knew everything about their special low protein diet.

There were chefs who knew everything about making low protein food that was delicious.

“It is our job to create tasty things to eat and drink that are safe for your tummies” said Mr Scientist. “We are making some low protein animal shaped pasta today. Would you like to help us?”

“Oh yes please!” said the gang.

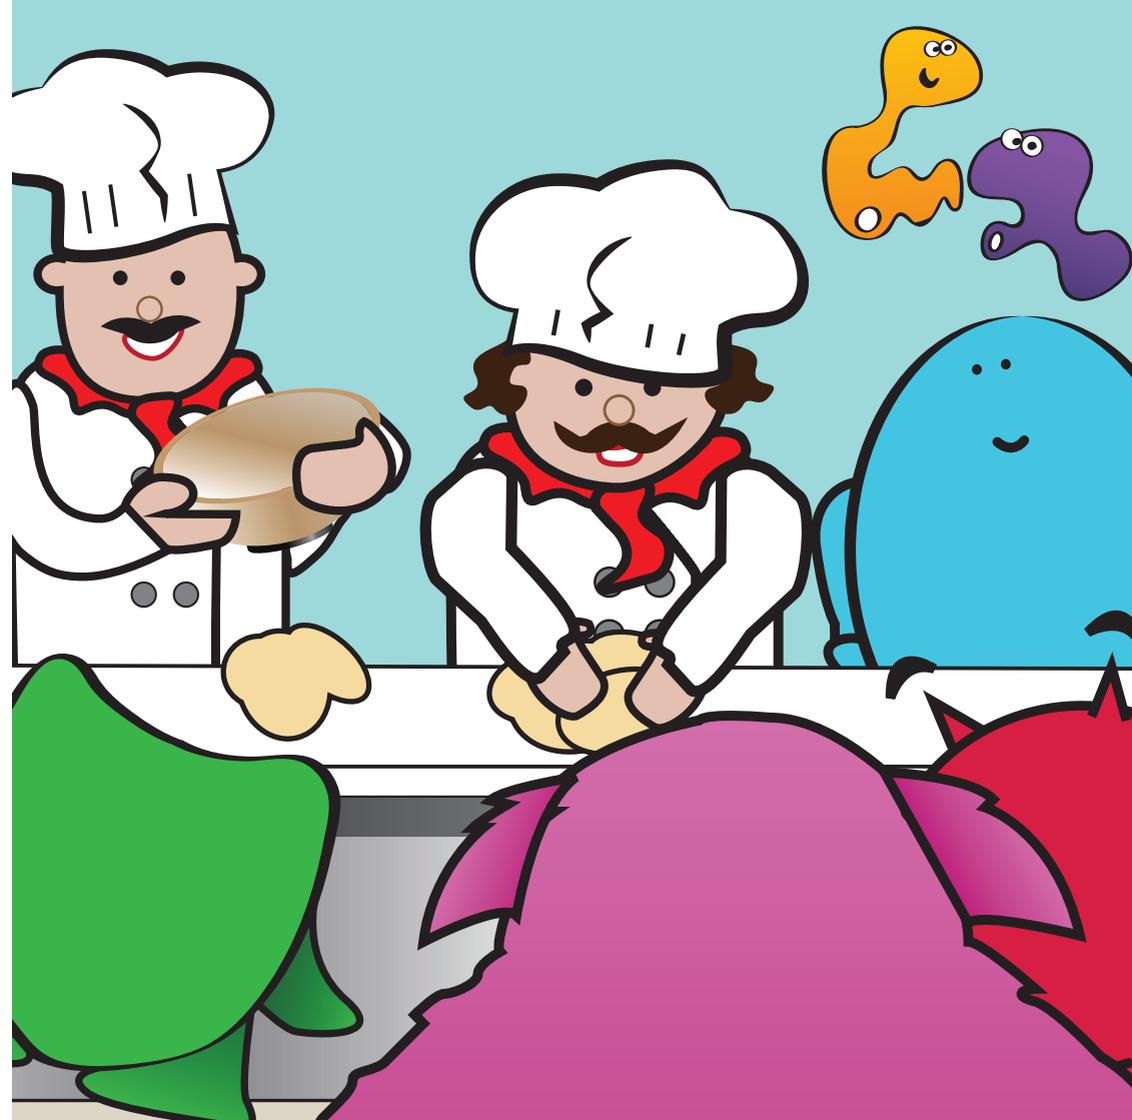

Mr Scientist took them to a very special kitchen inside the factory. "This is where the chefs make our low protein pasta" he said.

The Anamix 6 watched as the chefs mixed lots of low protein flour and water to make something called dough. "The low protein flour we use makes the pasta perfect for your low protein diet."

"Delizioso!" said one of the chefs.

"That means 'delicious' said Brains, who was very clever and spoke Italian!

"Now we are going to make the animal shapes with our dough" said Mr Scientist. "This is where you can help us if you want to."

The Anamix 6 helped the chefs to put the dough in to a special machine that pressed it into animal shapes.

“We have a teddy bear shape, an elephant shape, a monkey shape, a giraffe shape and a hippo shape” said Mr Scientist.

“Lots of different animal shapes” said Megabyte. “How do they all taste?”

“Delizioso!” said one of the chefs.

“Delicious!” said the Anamix 6 together.

“Now we wait for the pasta shapes to dry and then we can pack them into boxes” said Mr Scientist.

Mr Scientist then took them to the part of the factory where all the animal shaped pasta is put into boxes.

“Now we can send the pasta shapes you have made to people who need them as part of their low protein diet” he said.

“I wonder where all these boxes of animal shaped pasta are going?” said Brains.

The Omega Twins started to giggle.
“We know” they said.

“They are for Megabyte! The hungriest member of the Anamix 6!”

The Anamix 6 enjoyed their trip to the low protein food factory. Making animal shaped pasta with the chefs had been so much fun!

They even did some drawings of the animals to show you! Which one do you think is the best?

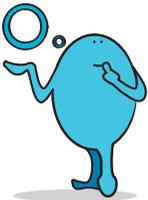

Why not have fun drawing your favourite animal? Then you can send it to the Anamix 6!

When you have finished your drawing, ask a grown up to send it (with your name on it) to: thegang@anamix6.com

The Anamix 6 are looking forward to hearing from you!
