Let's Go To The Restaurant

Today was a special occasion for the Gang,
it was Megabyte's birthday! When the Gang had a birthday to celebrate they liked to go out for a meal together.

Everyone had different ideas about where to go
but Brains said that they should let Megabyte
pick because it was his special day.

"I love going to restaurants where there are salad bars and lots of choices on the menu"
he said. So off the gang went to Megabyte's favourite restaurant!

Once the Gang were all settled at their table in the restaurant, they ordered some drinks and began to look at the menu.

“I think I want something with vegetables and chips” said Bones,
“What does everyone else want?”

“Maybe we should ask the manager about what foods are ok for our special diets?”
suggested Brains.

The manager arrived at the table and Megabyte explained that there were some foods the Gang couldn't eat as they had a special diet.

"There are lots of foods we can eat and like though!" he said.

The manager was very nice and suggested that they tell him what kind of foods they love to eat and he would ask the chef to cook them something special.

"I love all vegetables but especially mushrooms, green beans and carrots!" said Big Eye.

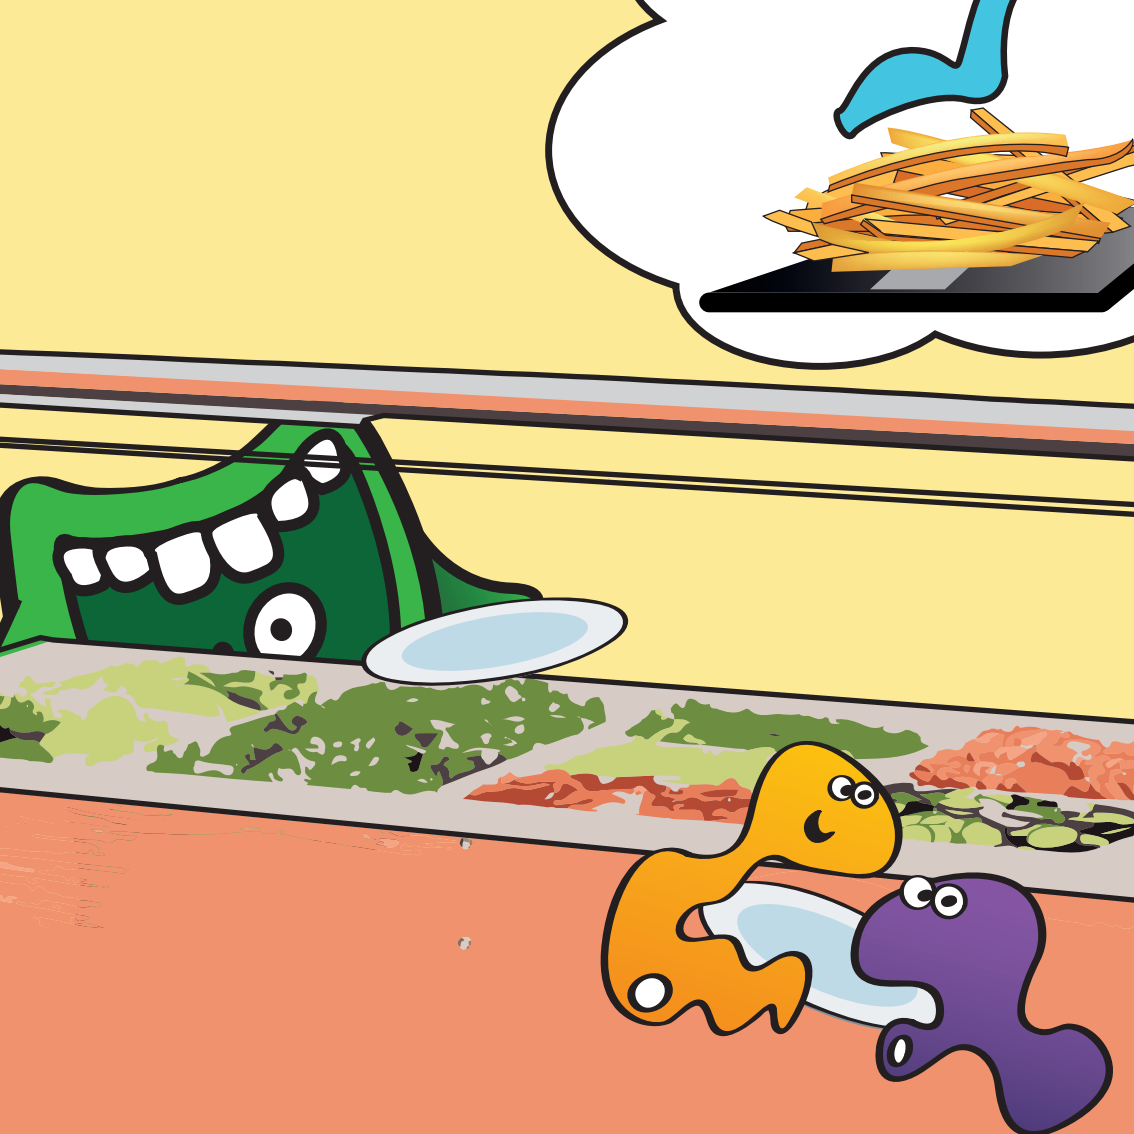

"Don't forget about potato either,
I love potato!" exclaimed Bones,
"especially chips and potato wedges!"

“How about we all go and choose the salad we like” said Megabyte.

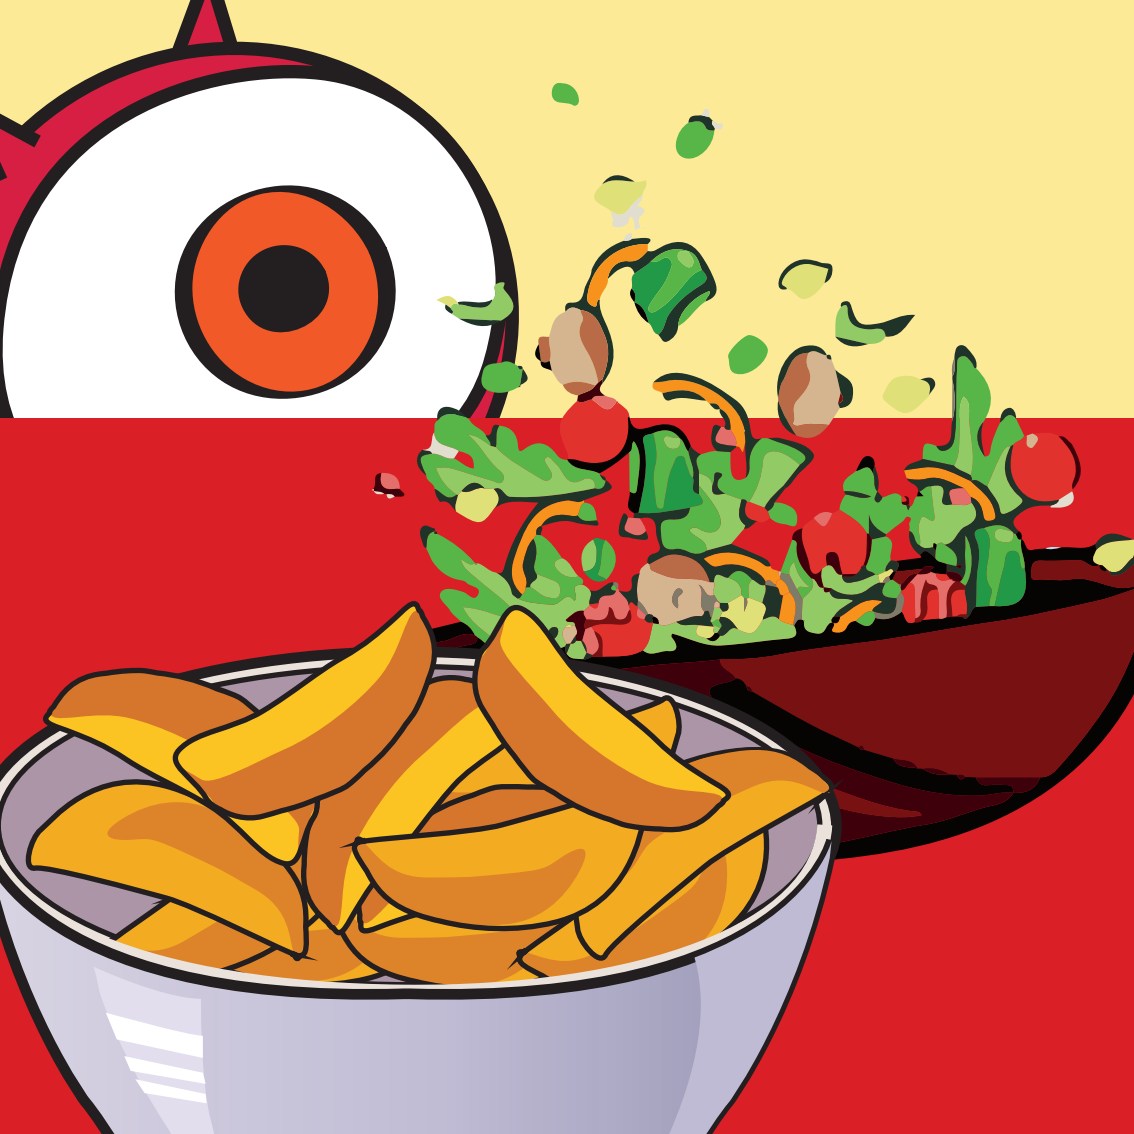

“Great idea! Then when the chips and potato wedges arrive we can weigh out the amount we are allowed on our travel scales” said Brains.

“Excellent, then while you choose your salads, I’ll make sure our chef makes you something delicious from all the vegetables you like!”
said the manager.

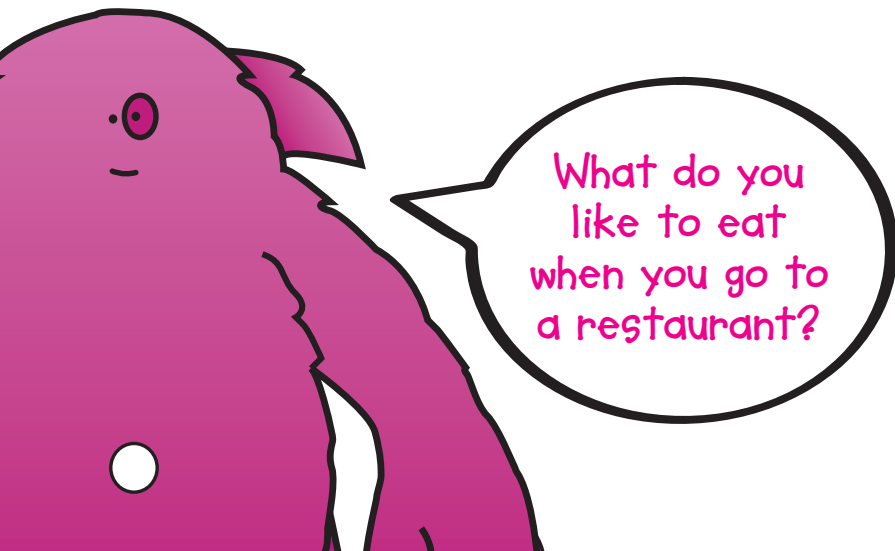

Soon the food arrived at the table.
There were lots of different dishes for the whole Gang, including big bowls of salad
and lots of vegetables.

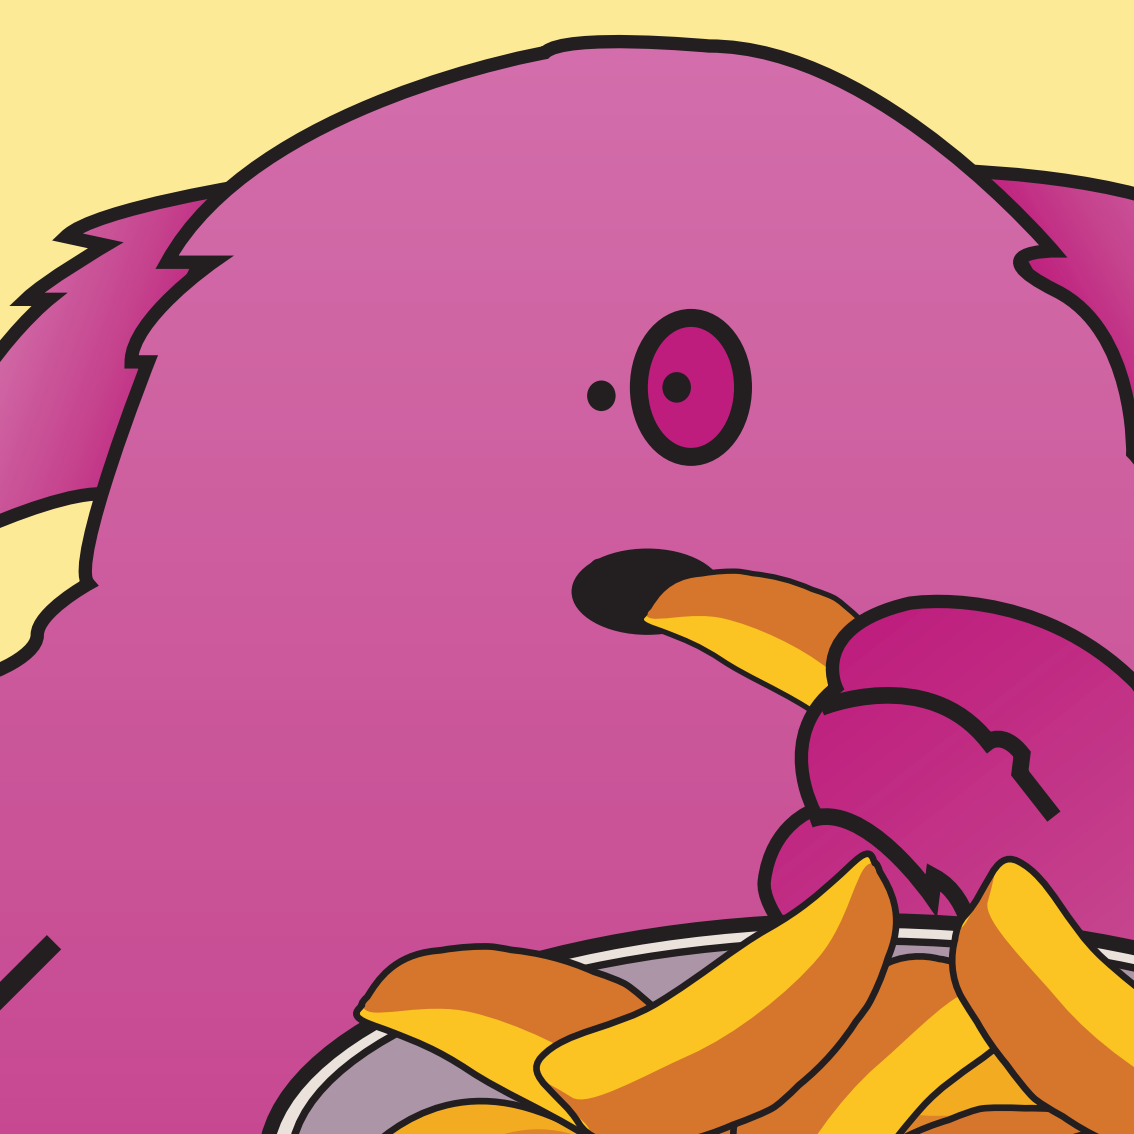

“Mmm, they used all of our favourite things!”
said Big Eye.

The Gang all enjoyed the delicious food
the chef had made for them!

"These potato wedges are my favourite!"
said Bones, after weighing-out just the right amount!

Once they had finished the Gang decided to go back to the clubhouse.

“We should go to restaurants more often!”
said the Omega Twins.

The Gang all agreed that they would be going to a restaurant next time they had a special occasion. “I wonder what food we shall try next?” They all said...
