The Birthday Party

It was the weekend and the Gang were planning a big adventure.

“Oh! I forgot to mention, we had some post delivered this morning, shall we open it? It might be from one of our friends!” said Brains.

The Gang opened up the post to find a very special invitation for them all.

The Clubhouse

The Gang had been invited to their friends' birthday party and it was the next day!

"We'll have to find a present for them today!"
said the Omega Twins.

"What if there's not a lot we can eat at the party because of our special diets?" asked Bones.

"Well, why don't we make something?"
suggested Big Eye.

“I have the recipe for some Cake Pops we could take, we could give them to our friend as a present too!” said Megabyte.

“That’s a great idea! We’d better get started on them now if the party is tomorrow.” said Brains.

The Gang set to work on their cake pops, using their special ingredients. This also meant that everyone at the party would be able to eat them.

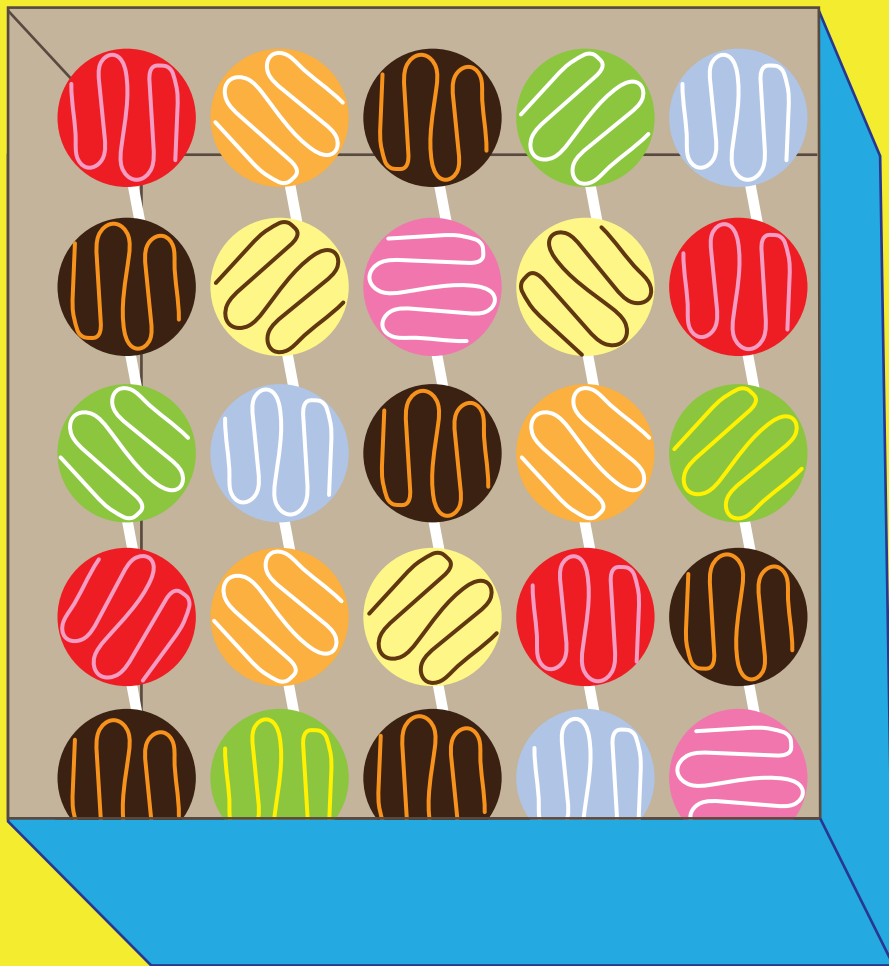

“These look delicious.” said Bones, and everyone agreed.

The next day the Gang woke up early as they were very excited about the party, especially Megabyte who was making even more noise than usual! The party was being held at their favourite play area.

As they arrived at the party their friend came to say hello. "Happy Birthday!" shouted the whole Gang at once! "We've brought you a present, we made these for all of us to share."

"Oh wow! They look yummy, what are they?" asked the Gang's friend.

“They’re cake pops but they are made with ingredients we can all have,” explained Megabyte.

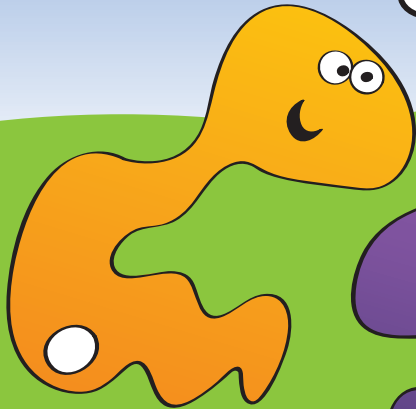

“Everyone come and look at these cakes that the Gang have brought! I’m having a red one!” their friend shouted out to everyone at the party.

Once they had eaten their cake pops the Gang spent the afternoon playing together on the climbing frames and playing games.

Brains was pleased that everyone liked their cakes and that they were all able to enjoy the same treats!

“We’ll have to use more of Megabyte’s recipes!” said the Omega Twins as the Gang headed back to the clubhouse. They’d all had such a lovely time at their friend’s birthday party.

Cake Pops Recipe

You will need (for 12 Cake Pops):

115g (5oz) Loprofin Mix

50g (2oz) butter

50g (2oz) caster sugar

1tsp Loprofin Egg Replacer

1tsp baking powder

1tsp vanilla extract

100ml Sno Pro or Loprofin Drink

Cooking method: Cake Pop Machine

Method:

1. Cream together the butter and sugar until light and fluffy.
2. Add the Loprofin Mix, Loprofin Egg Replacer and baking powder into the creamed mixture and mix together.
3. Add the Loprofin Drink or Sno Pro and vanilla extract gradually until smooth.
4. Place teaspoons of the mixture into the machine and bake for approximately 6–8 minutes, until the mixture is golden.
5. Allow to cool on a wire rack. Decorate.

 One 200ml carton of Loprofin Drink is equal to 1 exchange for those on a low protein diet.
